Cookies and web beacons

We may use cookies on our Site from time to time. A cookie is a small piece of text sent to your browser by a website that you visit. It helps the Site to remember information about your visit, like your preferred language and other settings. That can make your next visit easier and the site more useful to you. Cookies, by themselves, do not tell us your email address or other personally identifiable information. However, they do allow third parties, such as Google and Facebook, to cause our advertisements to appear on your social media and online media feeds as part of our retargeting campaigns. If and when you choose to provide our Site with personal information, this information may be linked to the data stored in the cookie.

We may use web beacons on our Site from time to time. Web beacons (also known as Clear GIFs) are small pieces of code placed on a web page to monitor the visitor's behaviour and collect data about the visitor's viewing of a web page. For example, web beacons can be used to count the users who visit a web page or to deliver a cookie to the browser of a visitor viewing that page.

We may use Google Analytics to collect and process data. To find out how Google uses data when you use third party websites or applications, please see <https://policies.google.com/technologies/types> or any other URL Google may use from time to time.
